

We are looking for exceptional project developers to join our growing team!

If you have a passion for renewable energy, experience in business development and a strong desire to find work that makes a difference – this may be the right opportunity for you.

Our project developers have the poise and experience to present complex, financially oriented proposals to senior decision makers. They engage in extensive business outreach, education, and follow up with prospects and clients. While renewable energy experience is considered an asset, it is not a requirement – we will provide extensive training as well as marketing support for candidates with the right experience and profile. Please go to reenergygroup.com to learn more about us.

Ideal Candidate Profile Includes:

- Strong communication– listening, written and verbal (including public speaking)
- Self-starter/entrepreneurial type willing to be held accountable for results
- High energy & always willing to go the extra mile to find the right solution
- Able to distill and explain complex ideas to others
- Great resilience and creative problem solver
- Ethical, genuine, caring, patient, persistent, hard working, sense of humor

Qualifications & Experience Desired

- Minimum of 3 years in a business development role (5 years preferred)
- Proficient in financial analyses & skilled in explaining these to others
- Experience compiling & delivering professional presentations or sales proposals
- College degree (ideal areas of study: renewable energy, finance, or business)
- Proficient in: Excel, Word, PowerPoint, CRM tools, Google docs
- Experience in the renewable energy industry, particularly solar a plus

Compensation
